Ben Affleck's Daughter Low-Key Roasted Him & It Was Hilarious

Ben Affleck is used to getting picked on by now. The actor/filmmaker was the inspiration for the Sad Affleck meme and the punching bag for hardcore Batman fans, but he's proven that not even a GIF with some Simon and Garfunkel lyrics or a 27% rating on Rotten Tomatoes could get him down. After all, he is a father of three, and anyone with kids knows that's no easy feat.

Over the weekend, Affleck demonstrated just how thick his skin had become after revealing that his eldest daughter, Violet, low-key shaded him for receiving the humanitarian award at the Starkey Hearing Foundation Gala for his work with his nonprofit organization Eastern Congo Initiative — and not because she's against philanthropic work.

According to PopSugar, the actor told the story of his witty 11-year-old calling him out for following in her mother's footsteps.

"When I told my oldest daughter that I was getting this award, she said, 'Yeah, Dad. Mom already has that one,'" Affleck told the gala crowd in Minnesota on Sunday.

Ouch, Dad. You're gonna need some aloe for that sweet burn!
